

Connecting Great People with Great Opportunities

“Attending the Erickson School’s graduate program allowed me to gain a wealth of knowledge from the most prominent leaders in the field of aging services while developing skills and relationships that have helped me progress in my career path.”

— Augusta Osefoh, M.A. '16 (C8)

“Erickson School is considered one of the top two programs for aging services management in the nation. They have a unique differentiating strength in their focus on ‘culture change’ and ‘person-centered care’, two areas critical to the transformation of aging services.”

— Cathy McEvoy, Ph.D.

Professor, University of South Florida,
School of Aging Studies and

Peter Reed Ph.D., M.P.H.

Director, University of Nevada,
Sanford Center for Aging

UMBC MANAGEMENT
OF AGING SERVICES

THE ERICKSON SCHOOL

University of Maryland, Baltimore County
5523 Research Park Drive, Suite 230
Baltimore, Maryland 21228
erickson.umbc.edu

Contact: Leigh Appel
443-543-5608, lappel2@umbc.edu

UMBC MANAGEMENT
OF AGING SERVICES

THE ERICKSON SCHOOL

Innovative Program to Develop Leaders to Meet the Demands of a Growing and Diverse Population

GRADUATE SCHOOL
erickson.umbc.edu

MAGS At A Glance

- Full Time: 16-month fast track program
- NEW! Part-time option offers more flexibility
- Hybrid program combines on-line and classroom instruction
- Unique combination of business, public policy, and aging studies
- Capstone project cultivates critical thinking, creative problem solving and enhanced communication skills
- Alumni network for meaningful long-term networks & career connections
- The Longevity Economy will generate jobs, opportunity, and innovative solutions for Americans over 50.

“Our program at its best is transformative in three ways,

It will transform you,

You will help transform your company,

Your company will help transform the world.”

— Dr. Judah Ronch, Dean

Curriculum and Areas of Study

Social and Economic Context of Aging

Leadership, Management, and Organizations

Finance and Accounting

Interdisciplinary Thinking in Management of Aging Services

Strategy Marketing and Service Delivery

Research and Presenting Information

Law, Ethics, and Longevity

Policy Foundations of Aging Services

Diversity of Management of Aging Services

Entrepreneurship, Innovation, and Design Concepts

Mental Illness and Mental Wellness of Aging

Design, Thinking, Technology, Environmental Design

Faculty

Judah Ronch Ph.D., Dean and Professor of the Practice

William Holman, M.A., C.P.A., Graduate Program Chair, President & CEO of Sagepoint Senior Services

Joseph DeMattos, M.B.A., President of Health Facilities Association of Maryland (HFAM)

Nichlas Fox, M.A., Program Analyst in the Office of Budget and Finance at the U.S. Administration for Community Living (formerly Administration on Aging)

Gary Hibbs, Executive Director, Riderwood Village, Erickson Living

Galina Madjaroff, M.A., Clinical Assistant Professor, Erickson School Undergraduate Program Directory

Robin Majeski, Ph.D, R.N., Clinical Associate Professor

Jonathan May, M.A., J.D., Partner in the law firm of Rosenberg Martin Greenberg

Steve McAlpine, Assistant Director of the Interdisciplinary Studies program at UMBC

Peter V. Rabins, M.D., M.P.H., Professor of the Practice and Director of Research with the Erickson School

Sarah Spellman, M.A., former COO of Cadbury Senior Services, currently with CliftonLarsonAllen

Scott Townsley J.D., Principal-in-Charge of LarsonAllen's National Senior Living Consulting Practice

Full Biographies available on erickson.umbc.edu